

Artistic unity for Ukraine: Murals around the world show support amid Russian invasion

USA TODAY

Photos in Gallery Cars drive past a recent painted mural featuring the President of Ukraine, Volodymyr Zelenskyy on March 22, 2022 in Krakow, Poland. Nearly two-thirds of the more than 3 million people to have fled Ukraine since Russia's invasion last month have come to Poland, which shares a 310-mile border with its eastern neighbor.

A woman walks past mural painting depicting Russian President Vladimir Putin holding his own body in Sofia, on March 15, 2022.

A woman walks past a street art depicting Russian President Vladimir Putin putting a "Canceled" poster over a "Make Love Not War" writing, in Paris on March 13, 2022.

A mural by French street artist and painter Christian Guemy, known as C215, depicts a Ukrainian child with a quote attributed to Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky "I really don't want my photos in your offices, because I am neither a god nor an icon, but rather a servant of the Nation. Instead, hang pictures of your children and look at them whenever you want to make a decision.", in Paris on March 10, 2022. The huge blue-and-yellow mural covering the side of a Paris apartment block is a reminder, says Paris-based artist C215, of the human cost of the war in Ukraine.

Women walk pass the mural "No to war" by muralist Maximiliano Bagnasco in Buenos Aires on March 5, 2022. Bagnasco paint this mural against the war inspired by two iconic images the portrait of Helena (C), a 53-year-old teacher standing outside a hospital after the bombing of the eastern Ukraine town of Chuguiv on February 24, 2022, as Russian armed forces invade Ukraine taken by AFP Greek photojournalist Aris Messinis and Kim Phuc Phan Thi, also known as "Napalm Girl", the iconic 1972 Vietnam War photograph taken by Nick Ut of AP.

This picture shows an installation by street artist Gregos representing a face in the colors of Ukraine holding a symbol of peace in his hands in Paris on February 28, 2022.

A peace mural showing a dove with a branch in Ukrainian colors by artist Justus Becker is painted on the wall of a house in Frankfurt, Germany, Monday, Feb. 28, 2022.

A bystander walks past a fresco by street artist Seth depicting a girl with a Ukrainian flag walking on tanks in Paris on March 01, 2022.

A woman passes a mural by Berlin-based street artist Eme Freethinker featuring Russian and Ukrainian girls in Berlin, Germany, Monday, Feb. 28, 2022.

Berlin-based Colombian street artist Arte Vilu works on a mural featuring a Ukrainian woman in traditional dress in Berlin, Germany, Monday, Feb. 28, 2022.

This aerial view shows a mural amid the destruction, depicting the colours of the Russian and Ukrainian flags, painted by Syrian artists to protest against Russia's military operation in Ukraine, in the rebel-held town of Binnish in Syria's northwestern Idlib province on February 24, 2022.

An art teacher carries a painting to condemn Russia military operation in Ukraine, in Mumbai on February 24, 2022.