

Kamala Harris - Nàng Tiên Nâu theo nghĩa đen

DH

Kamala Harris là nàng Tiên Nâu của đảng Dân Chủ, vì như bài viết dưới đây của tờ Washington Post thì họ ghi Kamala là phụ nữ da đen và phụ nữ Á đông đầu tiên được một đảng phái lớn của dòng chính đề cử để làm ứng cử viên vào chức vụ phó tổng thống.

Kamala, đã được gọi là phụ nữ da đen vì bố của bà là dân Jamaica, phụ nữ Á-đông da vàng là vì mẹ bà là người Ấn Độ, vì vậy tôi gọi da Kamala là da màu Nâu (màu Đen pha với màu Vàng thì thành màu Nâu, có đúng không? ạ). Lý do tôi gọi Kamala là nàng tiên là vì sắc đẹp của Kamala đã giúp nàng tiến thân được qua sự "chiêu cố" của 2 người đàn ông da đen quyền cao chức trọng là ông Cựu thị trưởng San Francisco Willie Brown và cựu tổng thống Barack Obama.

Dĩ nhiên ông Willie Brown thì đã "đỡ đầu, đỡ mình nàng" từ lúc nàng hãy còn 29 tuổi và chàng đã ngoài 60 tuổi, và chàng lúc đó tuy đã có gia đình nhưng công khai ngoại tình không chỉ một mình với Kamala. Kamala chỉ là một trong một trong chuỗi những người đàn bà của ông cựu thị trưởng SF này.

Việc ông đi các party mà một bên khoác tay vợ, bên kia khoác tay tình nhân là chuyện thường. Ông da đen tự hào với danh hiệu "Người tạo ra các bà hoàng hậu"- Queen maker. Vì người đàn bà nào muốn tiến thân thì cứ đến với ông là xong, là một thị trưởng đương thời của một thành phố nổi tiếng hàng đầu của tiểu bang California thì phải biết là ông uy quyền như thế nào.

Bài này xin chỉ nói về danh hiệu "Nàng Tiên Nâu theo nghĩa đen", xin hẹn bài sau sẽ viết về danh hiệu "Nàng Tiên Nâu theo nghĩa bóng."

Tôi viết bài này để quý chị quý em nào có muốn nhận chị nhận em với người phụ nữ Á đông vừa được đảng Dân Chủ đề cử thì xin mời để ra đón nhận cái hân hạnh này nhé.

Nếu có vinh dự chụp ảnh chung thì nhớ phổ biến để cho chúng tôi còn gửi lời chúc mừng.

Biden wants Harris to prosecute the political case against Trump

<https://www.washingtonpost.com/>

WILMINGTON, Del. — Joe Biden mentioned Donald Trump as much as Kamala Harris during his speech introducing her as his running mate here on Wednesday. That’s a reflection of the presumptive Democratic nominee’s desire to keep this election a referendum on the president as much as possible, even amid the history-making debut of the first Black woman and first Asian American to be a major-party candidate for vice president.

The former vice president noted that their first joint appearance, held in a mostly empty high school gymnasium near his house because of the novel coronavirus, coincided with the third anniversary of the violence in Charlottesville, where hundreds of white nationalists, neo-Nazis and Ku Klux Klan members defending a Confederate statue clashed with counter protesters in the streets. A white supremacist plowed his car into a crowd, leaving a young woman dead and 19 others injured.

Biden reiterated on Wednesday, as he has said countless times, that Trump’s comment afterward that there were “very fine people on both sides” is what prompted him to run for president.

“On January 20th, 2021, we’re all going to watch Senator Harris raise her right hand and swear the oath of office as the first woman ever to serve in the second highest office in this land,” Biden said, “and then we’re going to get to work fixing the mess that President Trump and Vice President Pence have created, both at home and abroad, through four years of mismanagement and coddling of terrorists and thugs around the world. ... And we have a racial justice crisis that Donald Trump seeks only to inflame with his politics of racist rhetoric and division.”

Biden, 77, made clear that part of Harris's appeal during the drawn-out selection process was her proven ability, as the former San Francisco district attorney and California attorney general, to prosecute a case.

For the next 82 days, he wants her to take point in prosecuting the political case against the incumbent.

"We have all watched her in the United States Senate go toe-to-toe with Trump officials trying to hide the truth, asking the tough questions that needed to be asked and not stopping until she got an answer," Biden said.

"And when none was forthcoming, it was obvious what the answer was." Harris also spoke almost as much about Trump as herself after Biden socially distanced himself from the lectern.

"Let me tell you, as somebody who has presented my fair share of arguments in court, the case against Donald Trump and Mike Pence is open and shut," the 55-year-old said.

"Just look where they've gotten us: More than 16 million out of work, millions of kids who cannot go back to school, a crisis of poverty and homelessness ... a crisis of hunger ... and, tragically, more than 165,000 lives that have been cut short, many with loved ones who never got the chance to say goodbye."

The senator contrasted Trump's handling of the coronavirus pandemic with the Obama administration's handling of the Ebola outbreak in 2014.

"Barack Obama and Joe Biden did their job: Only two people in the United States died," she said.

"While other countries are following the science, Trump pushed miracle cures he saw on Fox News. While other countries were flattening the curve, he said the virus would just poof, go away, 'like a miracle.' There's a reason it has hit America worse than any other advanced nation. It's because of Trump's failure to take it seriously from the start, his refusal to get testing up and running, his flip-flopping on social distancing and wearing masks, and his delusional belief that he knows better than the experts. All of that is why an American dies of covid-19 every 80 seconds."

The United States reported nearly 1,500 coronavirus deaths on Wednesday, the highest number of covid-19 fatalities in one day since mid-May. The country has now seen its seven-day average of newly reported deaths remain above 1,000 for 17 consecutive days.

The Labor Department announced Thursday that about 960,000 workers filed for unemployment insurance last week. This is the first time that initial claims dipped below 1 million since March, but it's also still more than the pre-pandemic record of 695,000, which had been set during the 1982 recession. All told, more than 28 million people are currently receiving some form of unemployment benefits.
