

Fearing Russian bombs Ukrainian families seek safety underground
Dave Lucas - Reuters

Photos in Gallery©Thomson Reuters

Local residents are seen in a shelter located in the basement of their building, damaged by a Russian military strike in the front line city of Vuhledar,

People take shelter inside a metro station during massive Russian missile attacks in Kyiv

Local woman stand at an entrance to a bomb shelter in the town of Siversk

Cold War bunker becomes lifesaver in devastated Ukrainian village

Teacher conducts a lesson for school students as they take shelter inside a metro station during massive Russian missile attacks in Kyiv

Shelter near the frontline in Velyka Novosilka

Shelter near the frontline in Velyka Novosilka

Shelter near the frontline in Velyka Novosilka

Shelter near the frontline in Velyka Novosilka

Shelter near the frontline in Velyka Novosilka

Shelter near the frontline town Velyka Novosilka

People take shelter inside a metro station during massive Russian missile attacks in Kyiv

Shelter near the frontline in Velyka Novosilka

Evacuation of residents near the frontline, in Siversk

A local resident prepares hot water in a shelter located in the basement of his building, damaged by a Russian military strike in the front line city of Vuhledar

The Wider Image: Elderly brothers eke out life among ruins of Ukraine war

Shelter near the frontline in Velika Novosilka

People take shelter inside a metro station during massive Russian missile attacks in Kyiv

Russia's attack on Ukraine continues, in Donetsk region

Local residents sit inside a bomb shelter in the frontline town of Bakhmut

People take shelter inside a metro station during massive Russian missile attacks in Kyiv